Take reading to the next level with Teelie Turner's new book 'Felicia the Magical Fairy Book Club Fairy'. The illustrations and magical story in this incredible short story will take you on a delightful adventure. The text from the book jacket reads: Fly along with Felicia, the Magical Fairy Book Club Fairy and learn about her role as the ambassador for Teelie Turner's Magical Fairy Book Club which is releasing a new story each week. In Fairy Land, Felicia gets to see each book release first as the pages come swirling into her cottage. Then, she heads out to special locations like a park to share the story that she received. Along with some magical fairy dust, there are a number of surprises in store for all the fairy children and their families who experience Felicia's amazing story reading and telling abilities. Sometimes she even acts out part of the story for her audience.

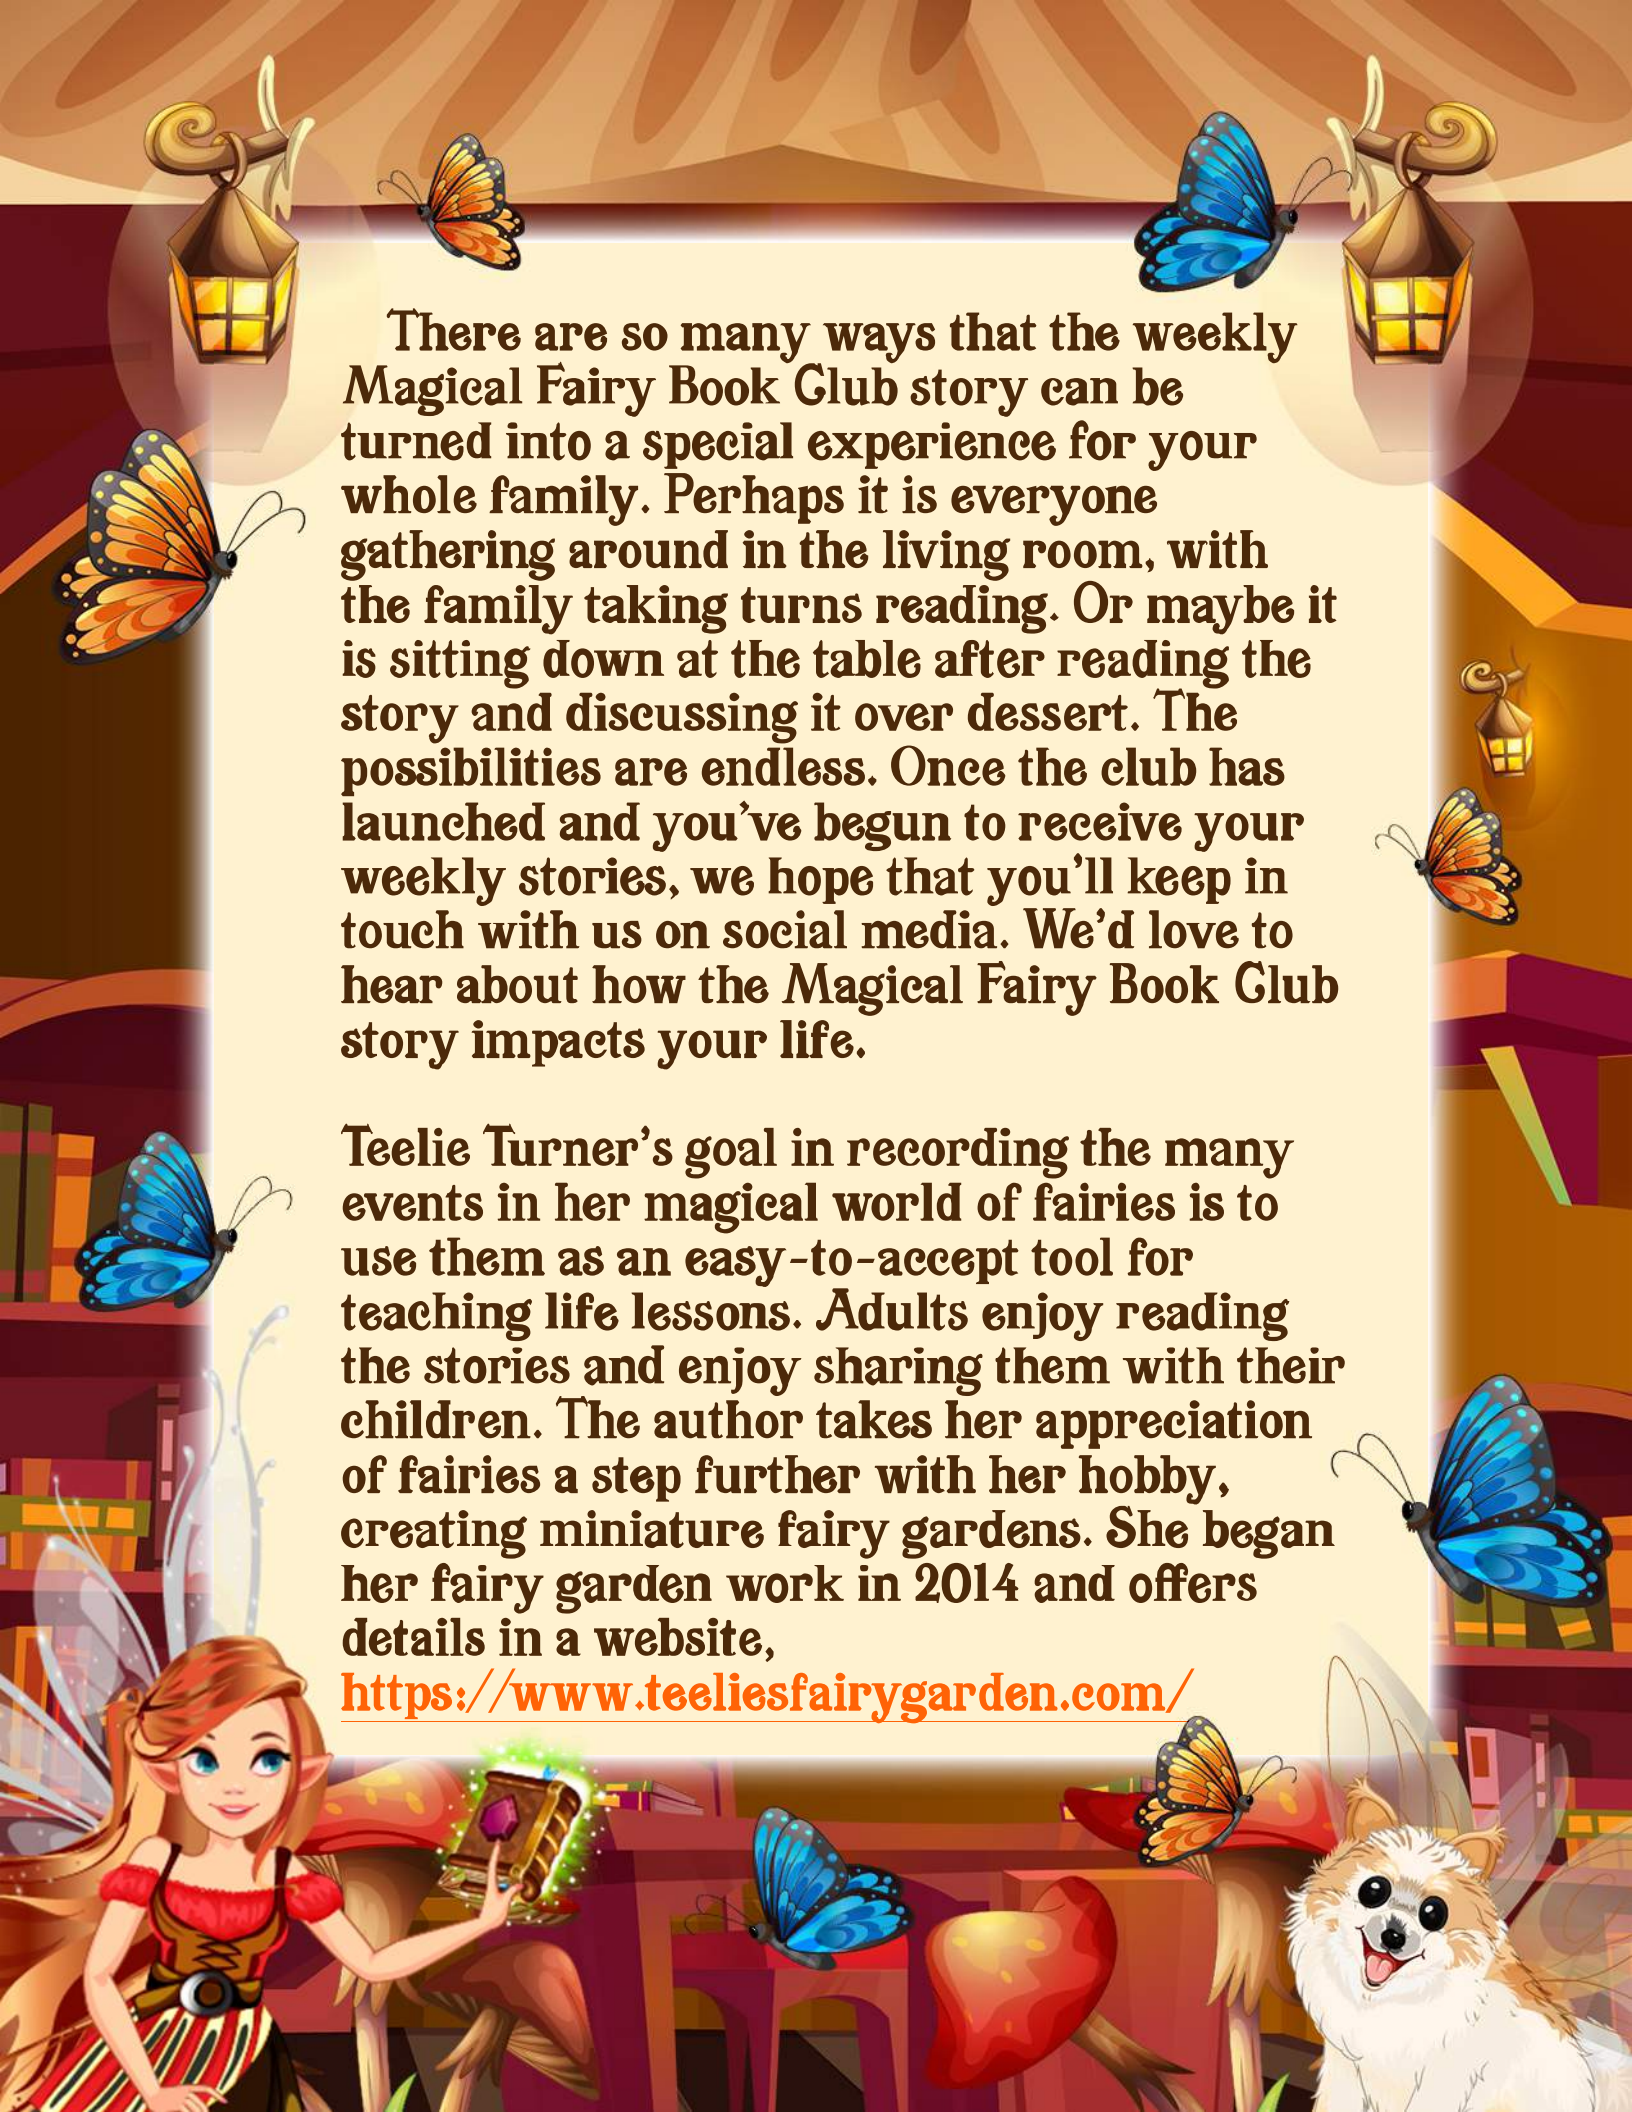

The background is a whimsical illustration of a magical forest or library. It features several glowing lanterns hanging from branches, with butterflies of various colors (orange, blue, and white) fluttering around. In the bottom left corner, a fairy with red hair and wings is holding a glowing book. In the bottom right corner, a small white dog is looking up. The overall color palette is warm, with oranges, yellows, and browns.

One of the many reasons for starting the Magical Fairy Book Club was to help inspire children with a love of reading and to help make literacy a whimsical journey, where they are anticipating the arrival of their next story. We also encourage parents to read along with their children to help create magical memories as a family.

The background is a warm, orange-toned illustration. At the top, two glowing lanterns hang from a branch, with a butterfly flying between them. On the left, another butterfly is shown. On the right, a third butterfly is near another lantern. The central text is set against a light cream background. Below the text, there are more butterflies and a small illustration of a fairy and a dog.

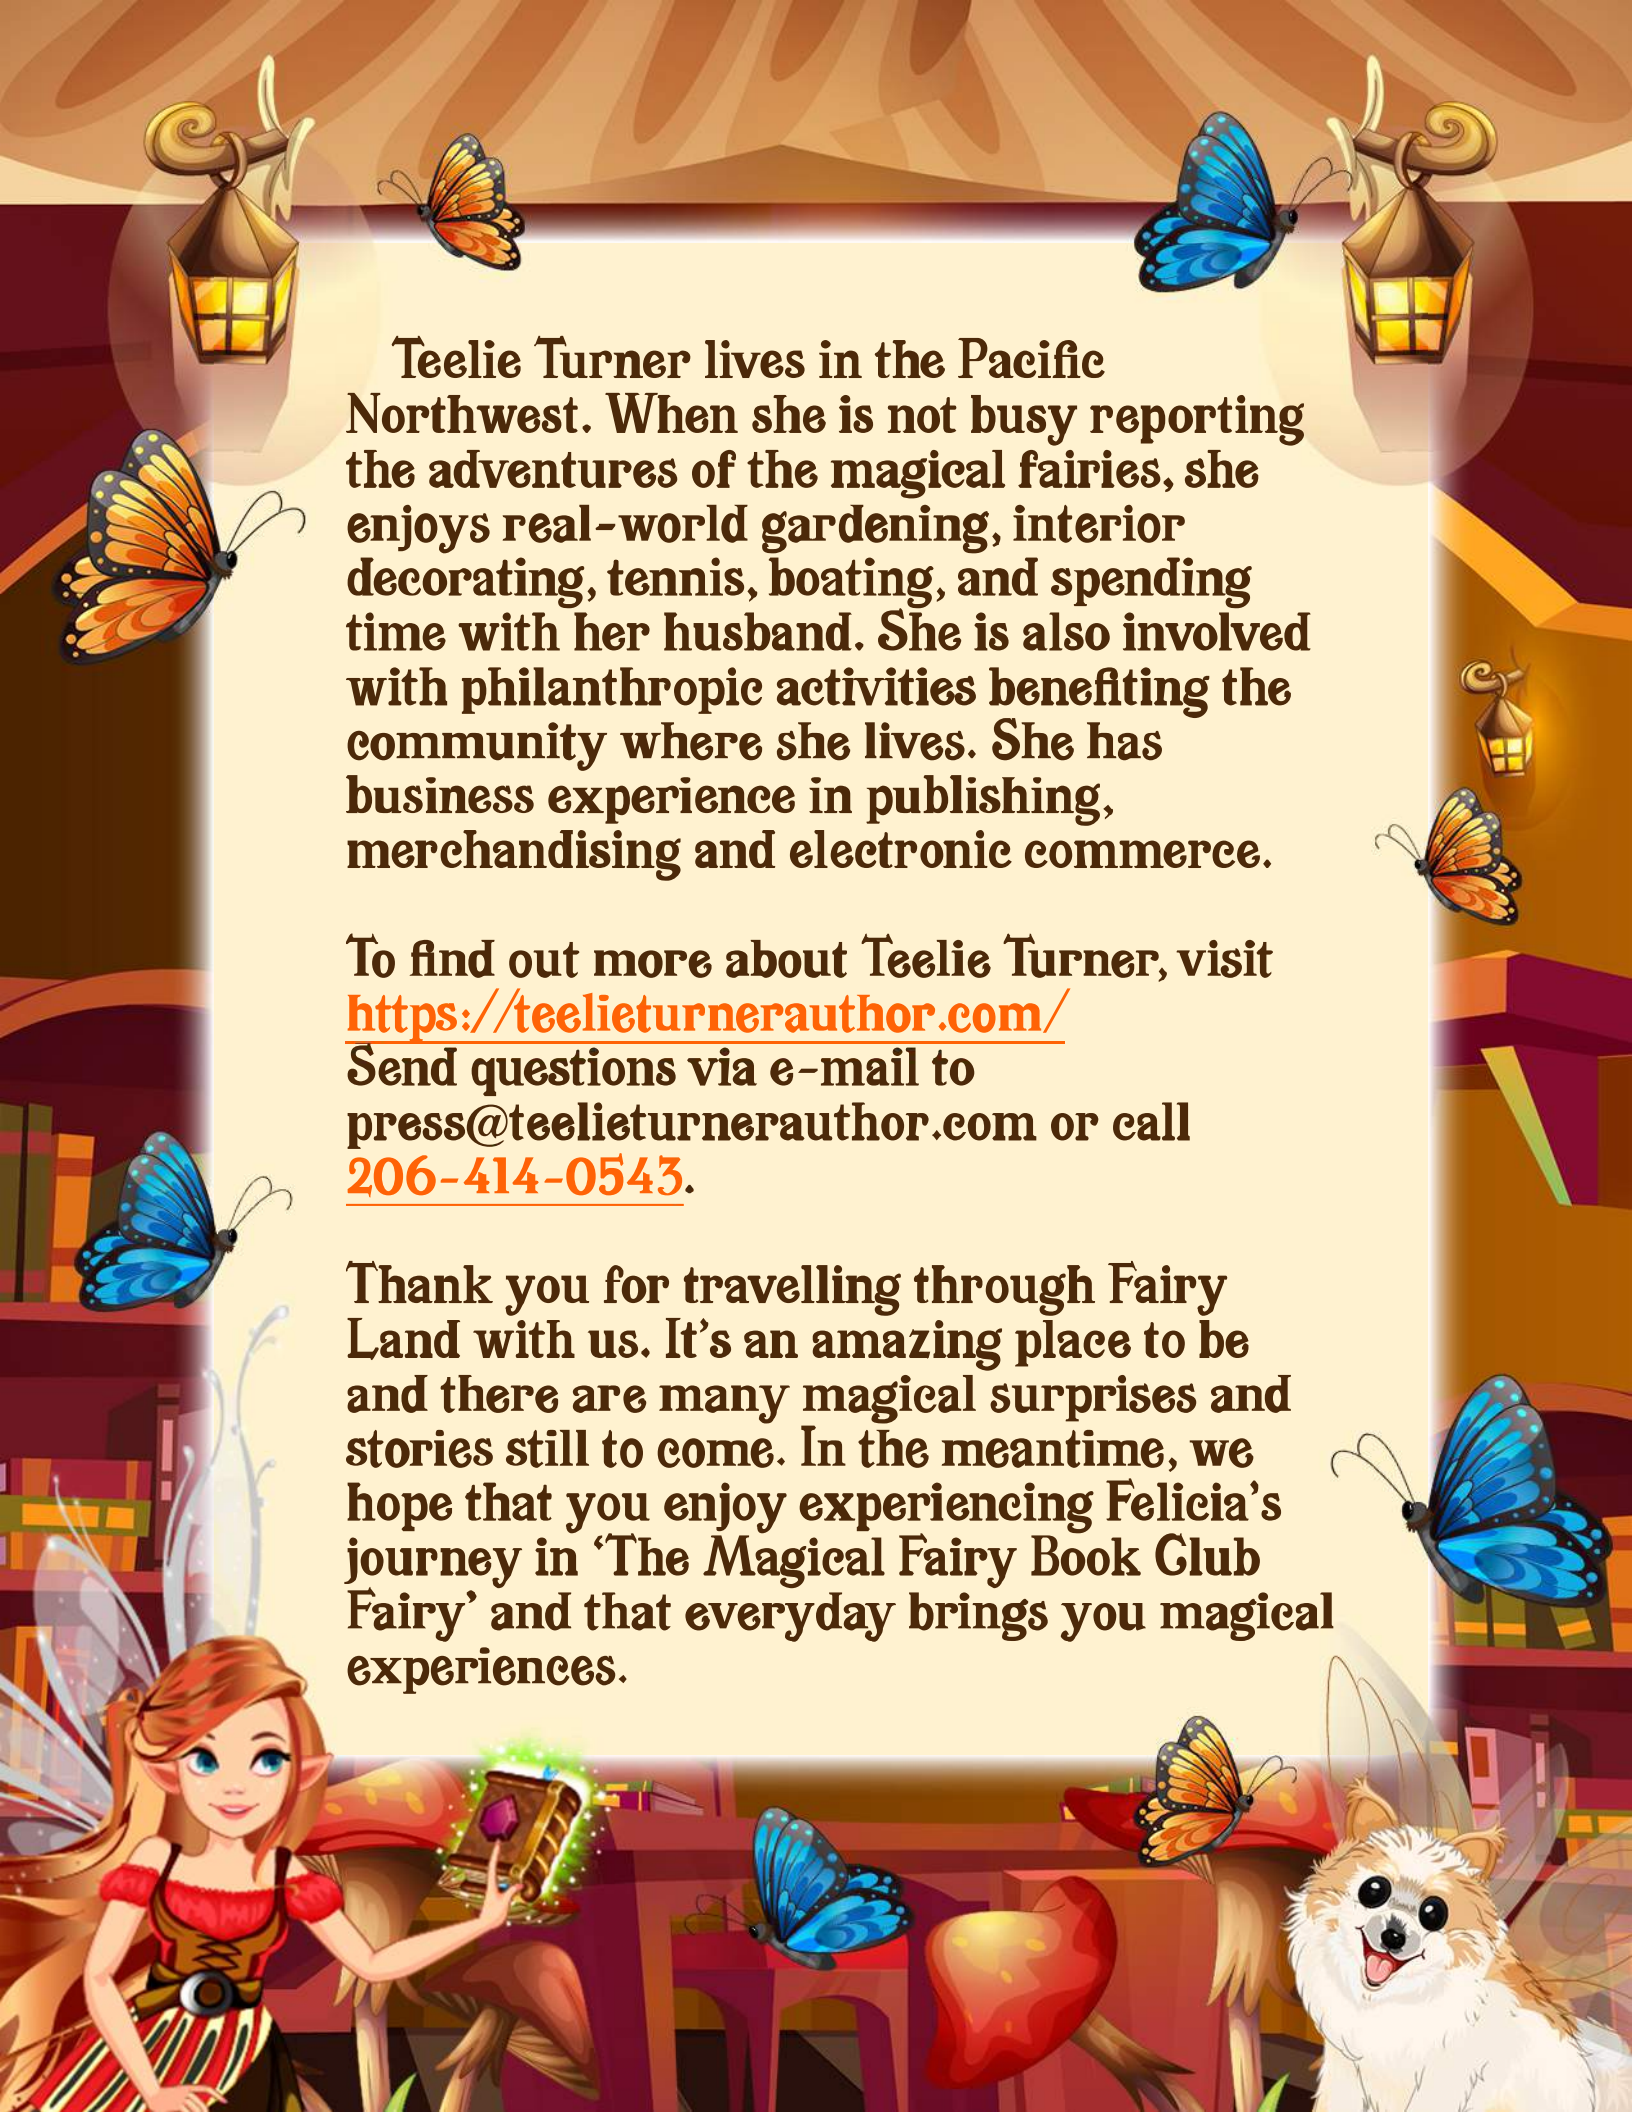

There are so many ways that the weekly Magical Fairy Book Club story can be turned into a special experience for your whole family. Perhaps it is everyone gathering around in the living room, with the family taking turns reading. Or maybe it is sitting down at the table after reading the story and discussing it over dessert. The possibilities are endless. Once the club has launched and you've begun to receive your weekly stories, we hope that you'll keep in touch with us on social media. We'd love to hear about how the Magical Fairy Book Club story impacts your life.
